2019 Paso Robles Rosé of Syrah

The Vintage

In years to come, we will think back on the 2019 vintage as the stuff that dreams are made of. With the last frost being seen in the vineyards on March 14th, the season proceeded to be warm and dry. April brought us a warm-up into the upper 80s during the day and a cool down into the 60s at night. We did not see any long term heat spikes and the fruit was able to hang on the vines, without any eminent threat of bad weather, until they were ideal for harvesting.

The Vineyard

Big de Vineyards is located in the El Pomar District of Paso Robles. It has 182.84 acres under vine and is at an elevation of 1066.48 ft. The vines are in a SouthWest orientation. The district has both steep hillsides, rolling hills, fantastic calcareous soils and has ocean influence thanks to the tale end of the Templeton Gap.

Our 2019 dry rose has a luxurious pale salmon color. Pouring this wine reveals aromas of cherry blossom, fresh picked strawberry, Bing cherry and white peach, reminiscent of a beautiful Spring day. Your palate will experience strawberry, rose petal and raspberry flavors enriched with lively acidity. This medium bodied rose captures warm sunshine in your glass, and we guarantee it will make you smile.
